RANDOLPH MAN DIED OF WOUNDS

Robert Hatch, Son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L.
Hatch, Enlisted While a Student in Dartmouth College.

Randolph, Nov. 2.—H. L. Hatch has received a telegram that his son, Robert, who has been across for a few months, was wounded on Oct. 2, and died on Oct. 3. This was the first substantial proof of his death, although there had been rumors of this previous to the official news. Robert Hatch was the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Hatch of Randolph avenue. Their eldest son, Henry, has been there for nearly a year, the most of the time in the hospital, and has only recently been able to take up his duties. Robert Hatch was one of the brightest of Randolph's young men, was a graduate of the high school here and had been one year at Dartmouth college, when he gave up his studies and enlisted last summer. It is a distinct loss to the community, for all respected and enjoyed Robert. Mr. and Mrs. Hatch have only the one son, Henry, who is abroad, and four daughters.

HAPPY WOMEN

Plenty of Them in Barre, and Good Reason for It.

Wouldn't any woman be happy, After years of backache suffering, Days of misery, nights of unrest, The distress of urinary troubles, When she finds freedom?

Many readers will profit by the following: Mrs. E. B. Lewenz, 14 First street, Barre, says: "From my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills, I know that they are an effective kidney medicine. Last fall I began to suffer from kidney trouble, and as one of my relatives had been cured of this trouble by Doan's, I decided to try them. My back was so lame and painful I could not do any work that required stooping or lifting. After I had taken three boxes of Doan's I was relieved. I keep Doan's Kidney Pills in the house all the time; whenever I have the opportunity, I recommend them." Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Lewenz had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

IT PUTS THE "PEP"

Into Peptifon—The Combination of Peptin, Nux, Iron, Celery.

This is what makes Peptifon of wonderful therapeutic value, and so successful after influenza, the grip and in blood and nerve troubles, anemia, paleness, nervous weakness and the exhausting worry and anxiety over the world war.

It is a real iron blood and nerve tonic, especially beneficial in the weakness following the influenza and grip, to worn-out, brain-fagged men, delicate women, school-tired girls and to fast-growing boys, invalids and convalescents, the aged and infirm. It actually puts iron, a natural strengthener, into the blood, and restores the wasted red corpuscles. Your druggist knows its great merit.—Adv.

SOLDIER ATHLETES TO BE IN LIMELIGHT

Pugilistic Bouts Between the Leading A. E. F. Boxers of the Various Weight Divisions Will Be Staged in Paris This Winter.

New York, Nov. 2.—Even though there may be some curtailment of hostilities on the various fronts during the coming winter, there will be plenty of fighting in Paris. Pugilistic bouts between the leading A. E. F. boxers of the various weight divisions will be staged weekly for the benefit of the American and allied soldiers, quartered or on furlough in the French capital. The athletic department of the Y. M. C. A. has leased the famous Palais de Glace for the winter, and every Wednesday night will be "boxing night" until springtime brings a return of outdoor sports.

The Palais de Glace is an ideal place for ring contests. It has a seating capacity of 2,000, with standing room for several hundred more. The ring will be set up in the center of the hall, so that every seat will command a good view. The building is in the Champs Elysees, corner of the avenue d'Antin, a central location easily accessible by the Metro subway.

All talent for the boxing programs will be furnished by members of the American expeditionary force. It is planned to conduct the main shows in the form of a continuous tournament, so that in time the Paris division championships in the various classes may be established. Toward the end of the season it was hoped to bring in the champions of other districts and hold a tournament that will develop the star boxers in the entire A. E. F.

F. W. Stone of the Y. M. C. A. is matchmaker. He was for years prominent in promoting amateur boxing for the Chicago A. A. and is relied upon to bring together the right men. The aim of the committee is to develop boxing among a large number of men, rather than to exploit a few professionals. At the same time, men who have had ring experience will not be barred. Eight bouts each Wednesday night is the limit, with four rounds as the usual distance, but in some cases with wind-ups over longer routes. Eight-ounce gloves will be used, the idea being to increase the knowledge of the game among soldiers, rather than to furnish material for the hospitals.

The probability that the powerful football team of the Georgia School of Technology will figure prominently in the war fund games of the present month attracts attention anew to some of its remarkable gridiron formations. Of these none is more famous than the so-called "jump shift," as described by its originator, coach Heisman. It is as follows:

"When the shift is put into effect, every man except the center is back of the scrimmage line. The distance of the guards, tackles, ends and backfield men from the line depends upon what kind of play is to be attempted. The whole idea of pulling 10 men of the team back of the line is to give concerted action and a preponderant force when driven against the enemy line."

"In 1910 it occurred to me that nothing much was gained by asking my tackles and guards, standing shoulder to shoulder with the enemy line, to batter down those men. It was a task almost impossible, because, to get ramming power into a drive, a certain momentum is necessary. And that momentum is gained only by a run."

"So I pulled my guards and tackles back to form a first line of interference. The halfbacks and ends form the second line. The moment the ball is passed, the two lines of interference move forward with all possible speed and when, in a concerted formation, it hits a straggling enemy line, the inevitable happens. The enemy line is knocked down. In cases where an end run, a fake kick, a forward pass or some trick play is to be engineered, the double line of interference serves as an effective mask."

"The beauty of that formation is that every conceivable play can be made from it. Georgia Tech. makes practically all its plays from that formation—line bucks, end runs, criss-cross passes and forward passes. Just how successful the 'jump shift' has been when using the aerial attack is shown by the fact that 75 per cent of all Georgia Tech.'s forward passes during the past four years have been completed."

Farms and Soldiers.

An elaborate plan of providing farms for returning soldiers, who are traditionally supposed to have objection, we don't know why, to returning to the work which engaged them before they left their positions to take up the fight of civilization, has been proposed by federal authorities and various others have submitted plans along the same lines. But conditions after this war will be very different from what they were after the Civil war when the whole west with its cheap land awaited development. There is of course some idle land in the west and a considerable amount more which will be rendered available by irrigation. And then too there are the well known "abandoned" farms in New England. There seem to be two obstacles, however, which are little considered in the elaborate plans which are outlined. The first is the question whether the soldiers themselves, in any great numbers, will want to take up this work, and second the labor problem. The trouble with farming has been to provide labor to work what farms are now in operation. Farms can easily be provided for the soldiers, but the labor problem will remain unsolved. Farming did not attract the young manhood of the country before the war and it will not attract the same class after the war. And if it did, the problem of providing labor would still stand where it does now.—Burlington News.

British troops are fighting with this army.

"The 48th division, operating on the Asiago plateau is reported to have advanced its line two kilometers northward but it is meeting with machine gun resistance in the neighborhood of Monte Interrotto."

Real Optimist.

The prize for optimism is awarded to a resident of one of the rural districts of Wales. As the story goes, an old man was sitting on the roof of his house during a flood, watching the waters flow past, when a neighbor who possessed a boat rowed across to him. "Hallo, Ted," he said. "Hallo, Dave," replied the other. "All your fowls washed away this morning, Ted?" "Yes, but the ducks can swim." "Apple trees and all that gone, too, eh?" "Well, they said the crops would be a failure, anyhow." "I see the water has reached above your windows now." "That's all right, Dave. Them windows need washin' badly."—Detroit Free Press.

Frosted Potatoes Make Good Starch.

Frosted and decayed potatoes have been found in trials conducted by the United States department of agriculture to be entirely capable of producing acceptable and frequently normal yields of clean, white starch of good quality. Much of this material appears to possess a potential value for the production of sizing starch approximating that of the stock at present used for this purpose. The mechanical difficulties in recovery from decayed pulp are sometimes greater and sometimes less than from normal stock. Modified procedure adapted to these abnormal pulps doubtless could be devised, department specialists say, but there seems to be no reason why the present method might not be applied profitably in the meantime in the production of sizing starch in factories at the large shipping centers installed to utilize the great quantities of frozen and decayed potatoes arriving during the fall and winter. This would turn to profit.

A Free Governor Needed

The Republican Committee calls for a big vote for Mr. Clement, in order to make certain a large delegation of Vermonters to the Republican national convention. Such large delegation is desirable—to the delegates. To Vermont, one thing is not only more desirable, but sorely needed—a governor staunch and free:

So staunch that at election time he advocates the same cause that he did before primaries and, with a majority of Vermonters, stands for a ratification of the Sheppard amendment;

A governor free to investigate any offense against the state, and, if need be, prosecute therefor.

Is This Man Free?

It now appears that friends, including the Republican candidate for governor, have given the thousands of dollars needed to cover the shortage in the state auditor's accounts for the last twelve years.

All voters may approve the sympathy, presumably shown. Many will know that no man, so sharing in an offense against the state, is free to act justly against the principal offender if duty to the state demands action.

What Would a Business Man Do?

An owner of a large business, having learned that an employee has been using business funds for his own purposes and, having this delinquent in mind, is considering two candidates for the superintendency of his business. He learns that one of these candidates has furnished means for making up the shortage of the delinquent. Can he expect just dealing toward either himself or that delinquent if he hires this man?

If He Had Been a Democrat

Republicans would have noticed the first deficit of the auditor and would have made it his last. Republicans would not have promoted him to higher office.
